

Write an ALP that will swap the contents of two files a.txt and b.txt if the character entered by the user is either 'y' or 'Y'. The character entered by the user should be displayed on screen. You can assume that the files are already available in the bin folder.

The size of the file a.txt and b.txt may not be equal and are variable.